[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

EASTERN DATES TO NOVEMBER 24.

Attempted Land Swindle.

FORT SCOTT, Nov. 22.—A large number of men in the interest of the railroad corporation, including parties interested in the Osage land swindle, are in attendance at the Cherokee council, now in session at Tolequah, trying to induce the Indians to part with their lands. The council thus far has declined to favor any corporation, but declares the Cherokee nation will build and operate a road through their country from north to south.

Peabody's Funeral.

BOSTON, Nov. 22.—At a meeting of the citizens of the town of Peabody, last evening, resolutions were adopted honoring the memory of George Peabody. A committee was appointed to co-operate with the trustees of the Peabody Institute in making arrangements for the funeral. Rev. M. Barbour, of Bangor Theological Seminary, has accepted an invitation to deliver the funeral sermon.

The Canada Rebellion.

TRENTON, Nov. 22.—A special from St. Paul to the Globe says simultaneously with the expulsion of Governor McDougall, another band of French insurgents took possession of Fort Garry without obstruction. The fort is now occupied by provisional Governor John Brouse. Governor McTavish is dangerously ill. The Hudson Bay Company do not organize to support McDougall. Letters of the 6th inst. report all quiet. Six hundred men are sworn to resist the Canadian authorities, and calling themselves Liberators. They are in arms. Letters from Fort Garry represent that the insurgents are having the support of the Scotch and English settlers in a greater degree than was expected. The American residents are represented as neutral. Governor McDougall is still at Pembina. Provenchie is said to be in favor of returning to Canada to which the Governor will not consent.

Spanish Gunboats to be Seized.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—United States District Attorney Pierrepont received instructions yesterday to proceed against the Spanish gunboats, now almost ready to sail, for a breach of the neutrality laws. Libels will be filed to-day and an order of the District Court obtained for their seizure on the grounds as stated preferred by the Government. It will be alleged that they were intended to be used by a foreign State (Spain) to cruise and commit hostilities against the citizens and property of the colony or people of Cuba, with which the United States are at peace. This being urged by the legal representatives of the Government under the direction of the administration, is fitly called quasi recognition of the Cubans as belligerents. It lies embodied in the idea that for the purposes of neutrality the laws of Spain and people of Cuba are two distinct communities. Neither must trample on the rights of the other while enjoying the hospitality of the United States. The main ground of their seizure, however, is that they are intended to be used against a foreign State with whom the United States is at peace, to wit: the Republic of Peru. A recent demand by the Spanish Minister for their release was refused by the Government.

Vigilance Committees at Omaha and Promontory.

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—An Omaha special says the Vigilance Committee yesterday gave the gamblers six hours to leave, which they did immediately. The Vigilantes at Promontory also drove out all thieves and gamblers from that place, on Sunday.

Chicago Dispatch.

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—A planing mill was burned last night. Loss, $25,000.

A meeting of business men met last evening for the purpose of taking measures to have Chicago made an original port of entry. Senator Trumbull and Congressman Judah were present and expressed the opinion that Congress would do justice in the matter. A committee was appointed to prepare statistics showing the amount of foreign importations to Chicago and draft a memorial to Congress, asking the necessary legislation.

A meeting of citizens opposed to the continuance of corporal punishment in the public schools, was held last evening. No action was taken except to express opinions adverse to corporal punishment in schools.

James O'Donnell, a married man, aged 51, fell from the stoop of a house, yesterday, and broke his neck.

New York News.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—A committee appointed by the Methodist General Conference, to examine the alleged defalcations in the book concern, report that there has been no serious loss through the purchase by middle men, but there has been serious loss by bad management in the book department. They approve the general management of the book concern.

Government officials yesterday seized several illicit distilleries at Brooklyn.

It is reported that three Spanish gun-boats escaped yesterday.

Eleven persons died in New York last week of small-pox.

One laborer was killed and four others fatally injured at the freight depot of the Morris Railroad, Hoboken, last night, by being crushed between the cars.

Deputy Collector Blatchford, charged with the perpetration of gross frauds in the drawback department of the Customhouse, yesterday presented a verbal resignation. A friend of Collector Grinnell accepted it. Blatchford's whereabouts is not yet ascertained.

Lockwood & Co. have so far adjusted their affairs that they have announced resumption of business in a few days. They expected an amicable settlement yesterday with the Lake Shore Railroad Company.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—A special says the Spanish Government has made a formal demand for thirty gunboats now in New York harbor.

Washington News.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23. A special from Washington asserts that the American squadron in the West Indian waters have been augmented specially in view of a contingency that may arise in consequence of the action of the United States in the matter of the Spanish gun-boats.

It is stated that Secretary Boutwell denies having taken any steps, or even favoring the idea of the resumption of specie payment at present, considering it useless to be troubling about specie payment until the time comes when such a thing can be feasible.

The steamship Leipsic has been detached to go to Panama for the purpose of assisting in the survey of the Darien ship canal. The Government having secured a treaty giving it sole control over the canal, it is determined to push the work which will make rapid progress during the coming winter in surveying for the route.

A special says the President expressed himself quite definitely lately to several financial friends concerning the questions of taxation and return to specie payment. He said it had been represented as favoring a continuance of all present taxation with a view of enabling the Treasurer to reduce the debt rapidly. He really believes, however, the time has come for relieving the great agricultural and laboring interests from many taxes now imposed, and to lighten the load in other classes in many particulars. He thinks there can be a still further reduction of the public expenses which will go a good way toward effecting reduced receipts from taxes. In regard to resuming specie payments, the President said while his desire to accomplish this has not been overrated, he was free to say that the way to secure speedy resumption does not seem clear to him. He thought that it would be necessary to bring it about by such a plan as would make the losses occasioned by it fall as equally as possible upon all classes. For the present, he thinks a leap to specie payments would be disastrous, and he is inclined to believe if the Secretary of the Treasury is enabled to go on with the present rate of buying bonds and selling gold, before a great time has passed, gold will drop so that specie payment can be resumed without much difficulty.

Peabody Monument for Central Park

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—A large and enthusiastic meeting of merchants and bankers was held this afternoon and a permanent organization effected to carry out a movement to raise a Peabody monument fund, the monument to be erected in Central Park.

Boston Bank Robbery.

BOSTON, Nov. 23.—A private meeting of sufferers by the Boylston bank robbery was held to-day. About half were present, representing $2[illegible] [illegible]. It is believed the whole loss will not exceed $[illegible]000.

Another Atlantic Cable.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—The question of establishing a cable between New York and the Hague has already received Government consideration. Due acknowledgment will be made to the Netherlands Government for the friendly motives which prompted the concession to American citizens. A reciprocity treaty will doubtless embody the principle which will govern further official proceedings.

Seizure of Spanish Gunboats.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—District Attorney Pierrepont is preparing a writ of attachment against the Spanish gunboats. They will be libeled to-morrow on the ground that they are intended to be used against Peru. It is said they will ultimately be released, if the Spanish Government, through its Minister, will file bonds that they shall not be used against a nation at peace with the United States.

The Cuban Army.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Since the 5th of July twelve hundred men have enlisted in the Cuban army. The Patriot army is confident of success and is willing to submit to all the hardships incident to the war. They are in need of arms and ammunition.

National Women's Convention.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 24.—The city is full of strangers to attend the National Women's Convention, which meets here to-morrow. Many prominent Woman's Rights advocates are present and a lively time is anticipated between Lucy Stone and Miss Anthony, and their respective adherents, in regard to national organization, the latter claiming that it was completed in New York last spring, and the former denying it.

A large number of editors are here to attend a meeting of the Western Press Association to-morrow.

Richmond Dispatch.

RICHMOND, Nov. 24.—The city authorities are making extensive preparations to entertain the National Board of Trade, which meets here on the 1st of December.

Miscellaneous.

UTICA, N. Y., Nov. 24.—The jury to-day returned a verdict of $15,000 damages in favor of Norman T. Smith, injured over a year ago by a collision of trains on the Central Railroad. Smith was an engineer in the employ of the railroad company.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—There is no truth in the rumor of the escape of three Spanish gunboats.

It is said that Lemus, the Cuban Envoy has made an affidavit in relation to the case of the Hornet with a view of securing her release.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—Gen. Butler gave bail to-day in the sum of $4,000 upon a charge of Miss Florence of appropriating the Twiggs swords.

Northern Railroad Convention.

DETROIT, Nov. 24.—The convention in the interest of the Northern Pacific & Michigan Shore Line Railroad was held at Syracuse to-day. About sixty delegates, including some from Oregon, were present. Congressman Driggs presided. A report was read, showing the resources of Northern Michigan, and speeches were made. The convention adjourned till to-morrow.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

LONDON, Nov. 22.—It is now absolutely certain that the African traveler, Livingstone, is safe. The Duke of Argyle, yesterday, received a telegram from the Governor of Bombay announcing that he had just received a letter from Livingstone, dated Ajiji, May 13th. He was in good health and everywhere well treated.

The ship Spendthrift, from Shanghae with tea, was totally wrecked off Dungeness, only fifty miles from port.

There have been many failures in the grain trade in Liverpool. Several firms had extensive American connections.

MADRID, Nov. 22.—The Bishop of Havana, recently arrested at Cadiz, was brought here to-day under guard. He will have an examination immediately.

PARIS, Nov. 22.—Accounts are received of a destructive earthquake in the Phillipine Island. The sea rose and buildings were prostrated. The loss of property was very great. At Manilla eight persons were killed and many injured. The city is tranquil.

Minister Bourbon and Heron are re-elected deputies.

LONDON, Nov. 24.—The Times, commenting on the political situation of France, says: "The hopes which were lately raised of the formation of a ministry under Olivet, have vanished. The Emperor is resolved to retain his present advisers in office, at least until the meeting of the Chambers, when men may be required to initiate new relations between the Government and Legislature. whether their appointments will pr[illegible] or follow the opening of the Chambers, or whether they will result from Imperial preference or a Parliamentary vote is of little consequence. The Legislature, if true to itself, will always have a last word on the subject. It is for the Legislature to enlighten the sovereign to bring its wishes to confer with him and impose them if necessary upon him.

LONDON, Nov. 23.—The Sultan protests against the action of the Viceroy of Egypt proclaiming the neutrality of Suez Canal as a trespass on his sovereignty.

MADRID, Nov. 23.—In obedience to a resolution adopted by the Cortes calling for information the government have been obliged to submit for examination documents which implicate Spanish Republicans in a conspiracy with the insurgents of Cuba.

The government is determined to adopt vigorous measures against certain Bishops who left the country for Rome without passports or permission.

PARIS, Nov. 23.—The Journal Official has the following dispatch from Port Said. The Imperial yacht Aigle with the Empress on board and Imperial fleet, left Suez yesterday and reached the Mediterranean to day. The success of the inauguration is complete. The Emperor of Austria will leave Cairo Thursday, on his return to Europe.

LONDON, Nov. 23.—The Anglo American Telegraph Company have leased one of their two Atlantic cables to a German company with whom negotiations have long been pending. The term of the lease is five years.

OUR SAN FRANCISCO DISPATCH.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 24.—The body of the man found in the bay last night proves to be John Kerrigan, aged 35, unmarried. A post mortem examination was held, but failed to find any marks of violence.

An anti Coolie mass meeting is to be held at Congress Hall to night, and will be addressed by Thomas Mooney and others.

In the Fourth District Court the case of John Perthbaker vs Andrew Crawford, suit to recover $3,950 for lumber sold for the construction of the schooner Louise Morrison, at Coos Bay, is on trial before a jury.

In the United States District Court to day, in the case of the United States vs $4,000 worth of opium, the jury rendered a verdict for plaintiff. Considerable interest is felt in the case, as claimant Cornelius J. Martin fought vigorously against the confiscation of the valuable drug.

James Dayton, examined for the murder of Michael Quirk, was held to answer for manslaughter, bail $700, in default of which he was committed to jail.

P. M. S. S. Company's steamer Montana arrived to night from Panama.

The steamer Ajax has just arrived. The steamer Montana, announced for sailing on Thursday, has been deferred until Saturday.

NEVADA.

ELKO, Nov. 24.—Charles McWilliams, J. H. Mills and J. C. Frazer, have made arrangements with Ward & Co., large owners in the Mineral Hill Mining District, for the erection of a ten stamp mill at that camp, which will be running in thirty days.

The last shipment of ore from the Mountain City Mine, Cope District, which was taken from the surface, assayed over $800 to the ton.

Bill Beach and George Hearst came in to-night from Cope. Mr. Hearst has some fine specimens he is taking to San Francisco.

The snow storm has [illegible] shipments to White Pine. Large freighters are preparing their teams for the winter roads, while smaller ones and ox teams are drawing off.

Considerable snow is reported on the Cope and White Pine roads. Very little has fallen in this valley. Weather cloudy and cold.

Railroad Accident at Truckee.

TRUCKEE, Nov. 24.—A man named Charles B. McLaughlin, foreman on a construction train, was run over this morning by the caboose car of a freight train, which was being backed in on a side track, and both legs badly crushed. It is supposed they will have to be amputated.

Weather cold and quite a flurry of snow this morning.

Something More from Washington Territory.

The OREGONIAN is excessively wounded because Philip Ritz once voted for Gen. S. Cole for Delegate to Congress, while it knows, as every one who remembers the issues of that canvass, what were the reasons. That paper was the first to indorse Mr. Cole, the [illegible] candidate, after his nomination at Vancouver, which it done [illegible] and completely, and was the principal instrument used in defeating Mr. Raynor, as the OREGONIAN was read and quoted by Mr. Cole in [illegible] made by him throughout the Territory. We have heard of the kettle calling the pot black, and we now hear the OREGONIAN denouncing Mr. Ritz for an act of which it was the first exponent.—Olympia Transcript.

We omit observations on the grammatical construction of the above paragraph, except to call attention to it as a specimen of "crude, flat" literature. The statements it contains are even more wanting in truth than in grammatical propriety. The OREGONIAN did not endorse Mr. Cole. It earnestly advocated the election of Mr. Raynor. When the latter gentleman was nominated the OREGONIAN said: "We most heartily signify our cordial approval of the nomination of Mr. Raynor as the Union candidate for Delegate to Congress from Washington Territory. We have known him for many years, and though his ministerial duties, to which he has always devoted himself with earnest and unbroken fidelity, have kept him out of the arena of politics, we are sure that he has never failed to feel a patriotic interest in the welfare and prosperity of the country, and thoroughly to understand the great [illegible] at stake * * He has been the active friend of education and of every good work. * * He is a man of fine talents, and if he undertakes to canvass the Territory—as we hope and suppose he will—we are sure that his [illegible] will satisfy the people that in him the Union and their [illegible] interests will have an eloquent and [illegible] advocate. We trust and do not doubt that Mr. Raynor will be elected by a very handsome majority." This is the way the OREGONIAN talked at the time. Does this extract read as if the OREGONIAN was the "chief instrument in defeating Mr. Raynor?" Its hope that he would be elected was defeated by such renegades as Philip Ritz, who also tried to defeat the party again last June, and who now, with other renegades, hold office as his reward. When Mr. Cole was nominated the OREGONIAN said that he was not a [illegible]ionist, and that if he should be elected, the result would not be a [illegible] triumph. This, we suppose, is what the Olympia paper refers to when it says the OREGONIAN "endorsed Mr. Cole." But the OREGONIAN, though it conceded that Mr. Cole was not a [illegible], a fact which every one knows who knows the man,—nevertheless condemned his political associations and labored through the whole [illegible] to defeat him. It said on one occasion: "We do not see how he (Mr. Cole) can ask the support of real Union men regardless of party, when he seeks and accepts a party nomination, and knows that he is regarded as the candidate of the [illegible]sionists, in part at [illegible]." And if such men as Ritz, who claim to be Union men par excellence, but who have a chronic habit of opposing the party, had done their duty, Mr. Raynor would have been elected. We can tell their [illegible] office brokers and defenders that they would do well to look for some employment more profitable than that of assailing the political record of the OREGONIAN.

FOREIGN NOTES.

The Goderich (Canada) salt-bed lately discovered is attracting considerable attention in the Dominion. Mr. Platt, who bored the first well in Huron or Bruce counties, claims that the stratum of solid salt pierced is forty feet thick, but that there are one or two layers of sedimentary deposit interlaid. The Canucks claim that this is the grandest deposit of pure salt known in the world.

The London Saturday Review, in a notice of Rev. Newman Hall's book on America, alludes very disrespectfully to his chapter on Chicago. It says the history of that place "is all very true and very wonderful, but we are just a little tired of hearing it incessantly repeated, as though the possession of excellent pig-killing machinery was enough to put a town at the head of civilization."

Here is a funeral speech which a Paris paper assures us was actually pronounced at Montmartre the other day, by a father at the grave of his son:—"Gentlemen," said the father, full of emotion, "the body before me was that of my son. He was a young man in the prime of life, with a sound constitution which ought to have insured him a hundred years. But misconduct, drunkenness and debauchery of the most disgraceful kind, brought him in the flower of age to the ditch which you see before you. Let this be an example to you and your children. Let us go hence."

A great workingmen's exhibition will be held in London in 1870. The most notable feature of the project is that each article exposed is to bear the signature of the workman by whom it was made; that in trades where division of labor is the rule, specimens of each particular branch are to be submitted, and workmen are to be invited to co-operate with each other in the production of combined articles. Agricultural produce and raw materials used in manufactures are also to be exhibited from all parts of the world. Mr. Gladstone is President, supported by sundry noblemen and gentlemen as Vice Presidents. The Agricultural Hall, Islington, a building able to contain 30,000 people, is to be the scene of the exhibition. The French and other Governments are zealously co-operating to secure a proper representation of their products. Louisiana, South Carolina, California, and other Southern and Western States are about to send contributions.

The Daily Oregonian.

THURSDAY MORNING NOV 25, 1869

A Danger to be Avoided

The Cincinnati papers now reaching us are largely devoted to the discussion of the recent action of the Board of Education of that city in excluding the Bible from the public schools Journals of all sects and parties there have participated in the discussion The controversy has been a long, and necessarily a somewhat angry one, for any general controversy regarding religious beliefs and modes of action (such is human nature) are certain to grow warm. It is notably the case that people will get at loggerheads on such subjects sooner than on any others, and the controversy at Cincinnati is one of that same class which for centuries have furnished abundant materials for history, which have aggravated political contests and which have been a prolific cause of wars The author of Hudibras not only satirized the Roundheads but satirized human nature, when he wrote of —

> Such as found their faith upon
> The holy text of pike and gun
> Decide all controversies by
> Infallible artillery,
> And prove their doctrines orthodox
> By apostolic blows and knocks, —

for it is very certain that disputes of a nature like that started at Cincinnati have many a time heretofore led to contests of arms

The Catholic Telegraph of that city holds that in the exclusion of the Bible from the schools only one point in the agitation has been gained, and that the next step must be to divide the school fund among the people according to their denominational strength The Catholics, it says, object to being taxed to support schools which do not teach Roman Catholic doctrines, and other sects have an equal right to insist on having schools to teach the doctrines of their faith This, of course, would make the schools wholly sectarian—a proceeding which would tend strongly to the development of sectarian animosities and entirely destroy the present system of public schools The system, as it stands, is entirely non-sectarian, and should not be interfered with. Heated controversies on religious matters are seldom profitable in the long run. In this country especially, where Catholics and Protestants taking different views of religious obligation and duty, are living in the same community, meeting everywhere in the common affairs of life, educating their children together, as the children of a republic with a common future before them should be educated, anything which leads to discord in the matter of beliefs is the last thing that will pay. The reasonable scruples of all must be respected and deferred to, or there will be separation and open war Everything which tends to array classes or sects against each other should be scrupulously avoided.

[illegible] Obstinacy.

New York Democrats declare that the new Legislature of that State, which meets in January, will rescind the action of the former Legislature by which the assent of the State was given to the Fifteenth Amendment. In view of the astonishing blindness of the Democratic party and the insane persistence with which for ten years it has opposed the inevitable, we cannot doubt that this attempt will be made. But of course the effort will prove abortive. Several States, which were carried by the Democrats in the "reaction" of 1867, attempted the same thing in regard to the [illegible] Amendment, but the endeavors of their reactionary Legislatures came to naught. So it will be with New York That State consummated its action on the Fifteenth Amendment by the fact of ratification, and a formal certificate thereof has been transmitted by the Governor to the State Department at Washington. This certificate must be with [illegible] and Congress will undoubtedly count the vote of New York for the article without taking any notice whatever of any new action of the Legislature upon it. If the Democratic party possessed any judgment at all it would abandon these reactionary attacks [illegible] which only lead it to new defeats and fresh humiliations

One of the Humbugs of the Time.

The telegraph is continually advising us of "free trade meetings" in different parts of the country. Men who talk of "free trade" in this country at this time, it would seem, have absolutely taken leave of their senses. We did not have free trade, or anything approaching to it, before the war, when we had no national debt to provide for. To suppose that we can have free trade now, when we must have a very large annual revenue, is preposterous. With a debt hanging over us, upon which it requires all the resources of the country to meet the interest, it is impossible to do without a tariff on imported goods, and under these conditions it is impossible to frame a tariff for revenue which would not at the same time be a protective tariff If the tariff rates be lowered very much, or abolished entirely, the indirect taxes thus lost must be made up by direct taxes on the people Are they prepared for this? Have they not already about as many internal taxes as they are prepared to pay? Under the existing condition of affairs "free trade meetings" are a ridiculous humbug.

OREGON

Saxe and Bangasser have thirty two thousand bushels of wheat in their mills at McMinnville, and last week shipped sixty tons of flour to Portland.

William Campbell proposes to erect a hotel at McMinnville. It will occupy a corner lot, will front sixty feet on each street and will be three stories high.

From the Roseburg Ensign "H B Gale, formerly of this paper, is now engaged in writing [illegible] and things, at this place. Look to your laurels, Woodward!"

The Yamhill Reporter of Tuesday says There is considerable excitement in this county in consequence of the release of the Hess's A report was in circulation yesterday, to the effect that they would most likely be re-arrested

The Douglas county paper says Sheriff Van [illegible] has already collected and paid over to the Treasurer of this county, $11 600 of this year's assessment. He reports no scarcity of coin among the owners of property in this valley, and thinks that he will have the taxes in much earlier than usual

The Statesman has the following A A McCully informs us that he failed to take some good samples of our wheat East with him as he intended but that he met a gentleman who had received a small lot from a friend in Oregon, which he had exhibited at several county fairs in Illinois, causing great surprise to farmers there This is the not to have been as good a year as usual for wheat at the West, and Mr McCully shows a small sample gathered from grain in the stack in Iowa, that few our folks would believe intended for wheat at all We have no hesitation in saying that if a hundred bushels of it was run through the [illegible] and cleaning works of either of the Salem flouring mills it would all screen ff into the waste pile, and it is doubtful if Oregon chickens would eat it unless at the point of starvation

The Cape of Good Hope wants to be an independent Republic.

FRESHEST GLEANINGS

The McPherson monument has been commenced

During the last days of October it froze up tight in Michigan and destroyed nearly the whole apple crop Those unfortunate people better try to come out to Oregon

A troubled father sends a notice to all the ordinaries of Georgia forbidding them from issuing a marriage license to his son until 18[illegible] as he will not be of age until then

Two hundred and fifty medical students in Philadelphia taunt hiss and jeer at the twenty five young ladies from the Women's Medical College who attend the clinical lectures at the Pennsylvania Hospital And there isn't one gentleman among the two hundred and fifty to protest against it

In an old house in Danbury Ct the other day a well preserved note was found issued under the act of Congress Feb 17 1776 It was for one sixth of a dollar On one side, among other things was the motto "Mind your business" and on the reverse side a circle composed of thirteen links, representing the thirteen States

Senator Brownlow under date of Knoxville Nov 7, writes to Judge Noah, Tennessee State Agent in this city, as follows: "Should I live to get to the Senate in December, friends and enemies alike will see how little truth there is in the statements that I have forsaken the Republican and joined the Democratic party and aided in the election to the Senate of Andrew Johnston"

A lively warfare has sprung up in the Democratic ranks in Pensylvania, since the election, over the cause of their defeat, and much bad blood is being shown It is conceded now that Packer, who was nominated solely on account of his wealth, was a load to the party, and those who opposed his nomination are ventilating their feelings in a manner that is quite refreshing. Altogether it is to be hoped that this little breeze may do the party good

A recent Washington dispatch says: Financial measures will, according to present indications, be quite numerous next session At least a dozen bills are now known to be in preparation for immediate introduction, as soon as Congress shall meet A prominent Congressman, who was here a few days ago, says that some steps must be taken toward the immediate resumption of specie payments, another writer that it has been pretty well proved that appreciation of the bonds will not help resumption as much as was expected, and a third objects to the accumulation of the gold

The New York Times, in an article on the death of Admiral Stewart, said Men like Charles Stewart are landmarks of the past We honor valor and devotion in honoring them And, although we have been too busy and too eager about our own cases and too much perplexed, we fear, with with later and more anxious events, to think of the veterans who sit apart and gaze upon the scenes of their former usefulness, yet the thought of the Old Admiral, who has lived so long, whose career was so much a part of our earliest and most sacred history, and whose triumphs gave joy to our grandfathers, will make us pause and think and give a moment to the great memories that cluster around his life and death This is the last of that noble group—Preble, Decatur, Bainbridge, Porter, Lawrence—the last of the great captains whose deeds have given our history its early romance He dies full of years and glory, and over his grave let every honor rest

THE WEST.

The Olympia Transcript says A bill has been introduced by Mr. Struve and passed the Council and we hope will pass the House, to create the office of Commissioner of Immigration and statistics for the Territory.

The Occidental Hotel, San Francisco, with furniture, and the lot on which the building stands, is rated at $1,000,000. The new hotel at the corner of New Montgomery and Market streets, will cost, lot and furnishing included, $1,000,000 The Lick House is put down at $800,000, and the Cosmopolitan at $975,000.

The Controller of State for Nevada, informs the Carson Appeal that he has returns from all the counties in the State, with one exception, and that the assessment roll, so far, foots up in round numbers, $25,200,000 The county to hear from will swell that amount to at least $26 000,000, gold coin valuation—Lander county heading the list with $4,766,946 77 This shows a very handsome increase over the roll of last year, which aggregated $18,884,220, currency valuation.

Theodore Burmester was brought before the bar of the Court at Boise City on the 16th inst for trial on an indictment for murder His counsel moved for a change of venue to Owyhee county. The Court granted the change of venue, but reserved the right to order the cause to Boise county (Idaho City). Subsequently it was so ordered, and a special term will be held at Idaho City, beginning December 1st, to try the case The prisoner meanwhile was remanded to jail.

A Washington dispatch states that Chief Engineer King, chief of the bureau of the steam engineers, has recently returned from a visit of inspection of the Navy Yard at Mare Island, Cal, and is preparing a report for presentation to Congress. He says that the location and habor is one of the best in the world and with but few improvements it can be made very effective One great error has been made in erecting several of the most important shops near the water edge and on made ground, which, it is feared, will not permit of the erection of large heavy tools All the water which is used in the yard is procured by securing it during the wet season. An attempt was made to sink a well, but after boring 190 feet without success, it was abandoned

The subjoined correspondence sufficiently explains itself

PORTLAND Oregon, Nov 15 1869

Messrs Everson & Haines, General Agents New England Mutual Life Insurance Company, Boston

Gentlemen,—On my own behalf and in the name of my orphan children, I beg to thank you, and through you the New England Mutual Life Insurance Company of Boston for its munificence in paying me my terminated policy on the life of my husband On the 21st January, 1869, misfortune compelled me to forego the payment of the last premium—which non payment in any other company would have lost me my policy—but I am now overjoyed with the receipt of the amount of the policy (less the amount of the unpaid premium only) thanks to the equity of the Massachusetts Lapse Laws, that must bless many widows and their children I recommend the New England Mutual to all who would provide against possible misfortune. I sincerely thank you again gentlemen for the payment and also for your generous and gentlemanly assistance in the matter

Respectfully, BETSEY MILLER

Messrs Everson & Haines General Agents of the New England Mutual Life Insurance Company of Boston

Gentlemen—Having taken a lively interest in the affairs of this large and destitute family left by an old resident of this city who died Aug 2 1869 and who was insured in the New England Mutual Life Insurance Company, we take pleasure in making the following statement for the information of the public

A E C Miller was insured by ordinary Life Policy No 13 054, bearing date January 21 1863 He paid annual payments to January 21, 1868 inclusive Since then nothing has been paid He died August 2 1869 over eighteen months after last payment of premium yet your company working under the Equitable Lapse Laws of Massachusetts pays the wife and orphans the whole policy deducting only the premium due; while in all other companies doing business here, about which we know anything the policy would long since have been forfeited

By the New England Mutual the widow has been paid $4 650 50 This we consider munificent, more especially when we take into consideration that the family would not have received a cent from any other company doing business on this coast This in our estimation is enough to recommend this company above all others This is Equity [illegible] Mutual [illegible] We therefore commend this [illegible] company that has [illegible]

REJOINDER.

TO THE PUBLIC —Several Agents of Life Ins. Companies made a publication in reference to "Correspondence" had on the payment of Policy No 13,054 to the widow of A. E. C. Miller, pronouncing the correspondence "gross misstatements"

The statement of those Agents who attack us, is as cool as it is incorrect If they have a desire to give the public the "official letter" they refer to, they can have the use of it for publication. IT MAKES NO SUCH STATEMENTS AS THEY PRETEND TO QUOTE FROM IT We have it on file and any gentleman who wishes can see it by calling at our office.

These agents of other companies further say "When he (Miller) found that he had a surplus in the Company, which had been accumulating from dividends for several years he concluded to allow that amount to be applied to the payment of his premiums until it was exhausted;" they then state:

|---|---|
| Face of Policy | $5,000 00 |
| Add cash to his Cr at time of death. | 221 00 |
| | $5 221 00 |
| Deduct notes given to the Company | 570 50 |

They thus in one place assert the Policy to have a surplus to its credit but when they figure (figures tell the truth) they make the Policy in debt to the Company and deduct the indebtedness They further say that the Policy would have been carried not only to the date of Mr Miller's death but in any first class company for years without any additional payment, AND STILL THEY DID USE IT ALL RIGHT TO DEDUCT $349 50 AFTER ONLY SIX MONTHS; AND PAY $4 650 50 [If their statements be true the Company should have paid more than the face of the Policy

We respectfully ask every citizen who holds a Policy in a company any of these gentlemen represent, to read it and see whether if he fails to pay his premium on the very day it falls due if it is not declared to be null and void THERE IS NO SAVING MASSACHUSETTS CLAUSE IN IT Mr Miller's annual premium was $163 He paid the same half cash and half note At the time of his death four and a part of the fifth notes had been cancelled by his dividends and returned to him, the Policy was indebted for the balance on notes and interest to 21st Jan. 1869

|---|---|
| | $175 76 |
| Premium due and NOT PAID on Jan 21, 1869 | 163 00 |
| Total charges | 338 76 |
| Add Interest from Jan. 21st to Aug 2d | 10 74 |
| Making Amount deducted from face of Policy | 349 50 |

In refutation of the statement made that 1 405 Policies forfeited in 1868 we refer to the same Commissioner Baines last Report schedule D

The report says these Policies "Lapsed They now come under the Massachusetts Lapse Laws as did Miller's Policy and a [illegible] of them would be paid under similar circumstances by our Company

The Miller Insurance Policy.

Some Facts and Figures

WE GENERAL AGENTS OF LIFE INSURANCE Companies doing business in this city have had our attention called to some gross misstatements from the Agents of the New Eng and Mutual Life Insurance Company in relation to the settlement of the Policy No 13 054 which was held by the late A C E Miller in that Company We do not propose to submit to statements calculated to mislead the public about the operations of standard Companies doing business here and therefore give the following statement, derived from an official letter written by the Actuary of the New England Life Insurance Company which clearly proves that the Policy No 13 054 would have been carried, not only to the date of Mr Miller's death, but in any first class Company, for years, without any additional payment, and that in this instance, the "Massachusetts Lapse Law had nothing to do with the payment of the claim and that if Mr Miller had not had money to his credit in the hands of the Company in the shape of dividends, which he did not draw at the times they were declared because the Company failed to apprise him that he had anything to his credit until January 1869 and he had not paid his premium for 1869 his family would not have been paid the amount of the policy

Mr Miller did not, as the public are led to believe, allow his policy to lapse

When he found that he had a surplus in the Company which had been accumulated from dividends for several years, he concluded to allow that amount to be applied to the payment of his premiums until it was exhausted

ORO FINO THEATER — The "Ticket-of-Leave Man" [illegible] performed last night to a fair [illegible] The play was [illegible] mounted and its performance [illegible] Mrs Carter performed [illegible] very good effect throughout. Mrs. Bird as Mrs. [illegible] Mrs. [illegible] did the best piece of acting she has ever [illegible] here nobody could do it better Miss Cummings [illegible] a careful effort. This young [illegible] Mr Carter took the part of [illegible] Briefly, [illegible] most part did the character well. Mr. Barry's [illegible] was finely artistic, both in make up and acting [illegible] To-night we are to have the excellent [illegible] of "[illegible] Family" to be followed by the laughable far[illegible] The Specter Bridegroom, a good bill.

LOCOMOTIVE [illegible] TO OREGON CITY.—The Alert yes[illegible] day morning towed up the river two scows, one ha[illegible] on board the locomotive which came down the day [illegible] vious from the Cascades and the other about [illegible] of railroad iron. It was the intention to tow them up [illegible] Clackamas river and land the locomotive on the [illegible] the south bank but it was found impracticable to d[illegible] as the water had already fallen so low that the boat [illegible] aground at the first rapids. The Alert then [illegible] and towed the scows to the mouth of Abernethy creek [illegible] up that stream to where the railroad track [illegible] It [illegible] A piece of track will be laid [illegible] the locomotive will be run off the scow on to the [illegible] and then the work goes on

STEAMBOAT ASHORE —We learn from a [illegible] came up on Monticello Tuesday that the ste[illegible] Carrie last Sunday night, ran upon a gravel bar ab[illegible] mile and a half below the Dowlits Landing and was [illegible] able to get off The next day the water had falle[illegible] much as to leave the steamer high and dry ashore [illegible] men being able to walk all around her without we[illegible] their feet. She has on board about 15 tons of freight [illegible] the Cowlitz Landing and was on her way up to [illegible] [illegible] the captain has [illegible] to wait for the next [illegible] of the river. The steamer will probably float off [illegible] course of a month otherwise she will have to be sh[illegible] into the water [illegible]

A BOLD THIEF [illegible] STOPPED.—Just before dusk [illegible] evening [illegible] as Mr C E D[illegible] place on Washington street, and nipped a fur robe [illegible] ing outside of the door of the shop and made off [illegible] [illegible] seeing the thief carrying off his [illegible] You [illegible] what had happened went out and discovering th[illegible] robe had been taken quickly pursued the thief up [illegible] street, and caught him back and kept h[illegible] an officer [illegible] The fellow was taken to [illegible]

MEETING OF THE BOARD OF STATISTICS, IMMIGRATION ETC —Wednesday Nov 24th the Board met—Present Messrs Loryea Lull Leonard Dekum and Failing.

The Secretary submitted a report of transactions—ordered published

In motion it was ordered that 500 copies of Th... Frazar's weather record as published in the OREGONIAN be printed for distribution in the Eastern States

The Secretary submitted copy of circular ... to ascertain and report ... printing 5 ... copies in pamphlet form for distribution

The Secretary was authorized to perfect arrangements with the Agent of the N P T Co ... in emigrant fare

On motion the Secretary was directed to prepare a petition to Congress ... at or praying ... the U S ... Reserve ... tion to settlement

The following is the report of the Secretary referred to above

OFFICE OF THE BOARD OF STATISTICS
IMMIGRATION AND LABOR EXCHANGE
PORTLAND Nov 24 1869

To the President and Board of Trustees —

GENTLEMEN The ... call ... labor department of the Association ... opened 8 ... on the first order ... was received up to November 23 ... 68 orders have been received requiring 86 persons ... cancelled by the parties ... they needed ... that from the Labor Exchange ... 17 orders remain unfilled ... were filled embracing 40 ... as follows ... boiler maker 1 blacksmith ... cooks ... carpenters 2 cabinet makers 4 dish washers 1 farm hands, 12 house servant 1 laborers 8 log chopper 1 porter 1 nurse ... helpers for smith shops ... waiter ... cabinet ... railmaker 1 school teachers 2 The 17 orders unfilled are for ... house servants ... makers 3 small girls 2 cooks 3 mach ... paper finisher 1 clerk 1 embracing 15 persons The 13 orders cancelled were for pattern maker 1 baker 1 house servants 3 cooks 3 bricklayers 4 wood chopper 1 carpenters 2 laborers 13—embracing 28 persons About 75 per cent of the number of persons for whom employment has been obtained were recent arrivals in Oregon The number of applicants for employment in some grades of labor, has been largely in excess of the demand particularly so with the class known as common laborers, who at this season of the year drift towards Portland from the mines and elsewhere They generally apply here for employment go away and are not heard of again In several instances they declined employment after it was obtained for them and some of them disregarded entirely their engagements, much to the annoyance of their employers and to the discredit of the Labor Exchange The number of that class applying for work since the office was opened would probably amount to 75 or 100 men I have kept no record of them except when engagements were made Outside of this class the whole number of applicants for employment amounts to 102 embracing all the grades of labor

There has not been sufficient time since the office was opened for the people of the country generally to become accustomed to sending here for help However the attention of the community has been attracted by means of circulars and cards distributed through the mails and otherwise and that difficulty will be overcome in time

Fourteen letters from persons in the Eastern States making inquiries about Oregon have been received and answered They are from people who contemplate emigrating to Oregon and make inquiries about the climate soil productions, price of land &c all of which have been answered with as much care and accuracy as possible. I have generally requested these correspondents to have the answers to their letters published in their county papers

Immigration from the Eastern States is arriving to a limited extent Every steamer from San Francisco brings a few persons The Moses Taylor on her last trip brought a party of Germans from Wisconsin numbering 26 persons They will settle in different parts of the country

The President of the N P T Co has reduced the steerage fare from San Francisco to Portland to $12 to actual emigrants, but as yet no details have been arranged for carrying this reduction into effect, and very few of the immigrants thus far have derived any benefit from it. Some method should be devised for placing the benefits of this reduction within the reach of all persons emigrating to Oregon

Information has been left at the office of 22 farms for sale and rent also of several tracts of unimproved land. A record is made of this class of information in each case, properly indexed and arranged for easy reference. Information has been collected of public lands in different parts of the State; principally in the Klamath Lake region Grand Ronde valley and Tillamook county

I made application some weeks ago to the Registers of the different Land Offices in the State for descriptions of the vacant lands in their respective districts. The Register of the office at La Grande replied by furnishing a general statement embracing statistical information of his section of the country published in the La Grande Sentinel From this statement it appears that a large amount of land in that region of country is open to preemption and homestead entry The Register at the Oregon City office offers the Association all facilities for obtaining descriptions of the vacant lands in his district without charge, to any person the Association may send there to do the work. The Clerk in the office at Roseburg Mr L L Williams has generously offered to make up, during the ensuing winter, descriptions of the vacant lands in that district, appropriating his leisure hours to that purpose, and will furnish them free of charge

I applied to Mr I R Moores, of Salem, one of the State Land Commissioners for information of lands belonging to the State, Mr Moores offers all facilities for taking a transcript of the records of his office if the association will send some one to do it. He thinks the work could be done in a week's time by a competent person. As the State lands embrace some of the finest and most valuable tracts in Oregon I think it would be advisable to adopt some plan for obtaining the description, and in order to facilitate the settlement of them, the different acts of the Legislature relating to the location and sale of lands belonging to the State, should be published

Application has been made to the Commissioners of the General Land Office and to the Surveyor General of the State for maps of the public surveys. We will probably, be able to obtain them sometime in the course of the next few months

A number of persons have made application here for information of lands. They are mostly persons who have come to Oregon to look at the country and are undecided about remaining They seek information concerning the unsettled portions of the country and as a general thing, wish to remain if they can find lands to suit them. The majority of the persons comprising the immigration proper which have arrived this fall had fixed upon some point for settlement before setting out from their homes in the East, and on arriving here, have gone at once to their respective places of destination

In the collection of statistics, nothing has been done except to preserve such items of statistical information as could be gathered from the newspapers from time to time. There is no system in use by the authorities of the State or the different counties for compiling the statistics of the productions of the State Until some action is taken by the State Legislature for collecting and compiling such statistics I do not believe anything can be accomplished in that direction by this Association

The Secretary of the State Agricultural Society wrote some days ago to ascertain if this Association would bear the expense of forwarding to A. J Dufur in Vermont, a package of 500 or 600 copies of the "Statistics of Oregon," published by that Society Acting by the advice of two members of the Executive Committee I answered in the affirmative, and the box containing the pamphlets is now at the Express Office awaiting shipment.

The True Medical Doctrine.

Nature when struggling with disease, indicates unmistakably the kind of assistance she requires In cases of nervous weakness and general debility the feeble pulse the lack lustre eye the attenuated frame, the flaccid muscles the melancholy visage inform us as plainly as if each organ had a tongue that a medicated stimulant is needed It does not require the aid of a medical education to understand this dumb appeal for new vigor from an exhausted system Every reader of these lines can comprehend it just as well as the graduate of a physicians college Let not this demand of enfeebled nature be neglected Respond to it promptly by commencing a course of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, a preparation uniting in their highest excellence the properties of a Stimulant, an Invigorant and an Alterative Before three days have elapsed from the taking of the first dose, a marked beneficial change will be manifest in the bodily and mental condition of the patient The pulse will be stronger and more regular the eye will begin to lose its dull expression, the muscular and nervous systems to recover their tension and the spirits to improve Perseverance and a complete revivification of the depressed animal and mental powers is certain In cases of dyspepsia and biliousness the same salutary results will be obtained The appetite will revive, the sallowness of the skin disappear, and all the distressing symptoms which accompany disorders of the stomach and liver will rapidly subside The cold of winter often intensifies these complaints by checking the perspiratory action by which so much morbid matter is evaporated through the pores in milder weather and therefore the BITTERS are especially useful to the dyspeptic and bilious at this season

Mr Nobody

I know a funny little man,
As quiet as a mouse,
Who does the mischief that is done
In everybody's house!
There's no one ever sees his face,
And yet we all agree
That every plate we break was cracked
By Mr. No-bod-ee.

'Tis he who always tears our books,
Who leaves the door ajar,
He pulls the buttons from our shirts,
And scatters pins afar;
That squeaking door will always squeak,
For prithee, don't you see,
We leave the oiling to be done
By Mr. No-bod-ee.

The finger marks upon the doors
By none of us are made;
We never leave the blinds unclosed,
To let the curtains fade.
The ink we never spill; the boots
That lying round you see
Are not our boots.—They all belong
To Mr. No-bod-ee.

Publishers Perils

The November number of the American Booksellers' Guide has an interesting article on this subject from which we extract some of the interesting points. The writer says

The proportion of the books published in the United States which may be said to be successful does not exceed ten per cent and some competent judges estimate it not to exceed eight per cent We mean by successful books, books which pay a profit on the money and labor expended to produce them, and which maintain the publishing business Books which barely pay for the mechanical labor of publication cannot be said to be very successful These form about twenty-five per cent of the whole number

The remainder, sixty five books in every hundred published, make losses varying from a trifle to a total loss. Any one acquainted with the book market can verify this statement by running over the annual catalogues We are safe in saying that of the two thousand books published during the year 1868 at least fifteen hundred failed to pay a profit on their manufacture, despite of the efforts by advertising and otherwise, to make them conspicuous and popular And this is the case where publishers are perfectly familiar with the demands of the public and in possession of the channels of trade.

* * * * *

"The Wide, Wide World," published by Geo. P. Putnam, is another book which exhibits the uncertainty of the popular demand This book was offered to Mr. Putnam by the authors, the sisters Warner, daughters of an elderly merchant who had failed in business The daughters had written this novel in the hope of realizing something from it to help them in their reduced circumstances. Mr. Putnam, on the recommendation of his wife and daughter, sent the manuscript to the stereotypers, but after the plates were made he refused to sell them to the Appletons Failing in this he printed a small edition Nearly the whole of the edition lay on his shelves for six months, when one day there came an order from Providence, R. I., for fifty copies of it. Roorbach, who was in charge of that department, thought that there must be some mistake, that five and not fifty were intended From that time the book sold to the extent of 35,000 copies, and J. B. Lippincott & Co., who own the plates, still have a steady demand for it. But the vicissitudes through which Mr. Putnam has passed are well known to the trade, and we recall another book which he published, which illustrated the other side of the question The book was "The World of Art and Industry," a very elegant illustrated book got up in imitation of the London Art-Journal, and describing the New York Exhibition of the Industry of all Nations It was published at a cost of at least $20,000, and the price of the book was fixed at $5 It failed to sell, and at the auction sale of Mr. Putnam's stock nearly the whole edition was bought at 37 cents a volume by Ansel Edwards, who acted as auctioneer on the occasion.

* * * * *

A case has come to our knowledge of a [illegible] author, who insisted upon one of our leading New York houses publishing a book for him and placing upon it their imprint, he to pay all expenses. The house did not care to do it, but the author absolutely forced it upon them, paying them a check for $500 in advance. The house published the book, advertised it thoroughly and treated it as one of their own in every respect But with all, they could not sell copies enough to pay for the publication even with the $500 advanced by the author. They wrote to him to this effect and sent him their account with a bill for balance due. After repeatedly writing without receiving any reply, the house wrote to a bookseller in the city where the author resided, and in this way at last got an answer from him to the effect that he believed they had not done what was right by the book, not advertising it enough, giving away too many editor's copies, and intimated that they had sold enough anyway to pay all expenses, and further if they got anything out of him they would have to sue him for it.

* * * * *

The prices at which books are published in this country are too low. The reprinting and sale of English books for a little more than the bare cost of manufacture has lowered prices to that standard, and American book buyers make no allowance for authors whatever They expect a book by Longfellow at the same price as a reprint of Tennyson, both being of equal bulk, forgetting that to the former the American publishers have to pay a copyright on every copy sold. This is one cause of the small rewards of American authorship. It is not so much the fault of publishers that authors receive ten instead of twenty per cent copyright but of the temper of the people accustomed to a standard of prices which will not admit of such a liberal compensation of authors. Popular novels are first published in England, at 10s., 6d., or $3 75 [illegible] Here they are reprinted and sold in paper at 75 cents, and in cloth at $1 50, and this fixes the prices of copyright novels by native authors

Errors of Medicine.—The owners of many of the established patent medicines of the day are growing rich, if we are to judge of the brown stone fronts, public edifices, statues, etc. etc., that one or another of them is continually erecting The latest incident we find mentioned in a recent number of the Rochester Express as follows

"We had the pleasure of visiting Glenwood Cemetery, in the city of Lockport, a short time ago, and while there noticed among the many fine monuments which have been erected since the new inclosure was dedicated one, which for magnitude, both in height, breadth, and massive proportions, stands pre eminent, and is the richest and most elegant of all. The base is of Lockport limestone, it is accurately chiseled, and weighs eleven tons. The column rising above is nearly square, with tasteful ornaments of various designs It is of American Italian marble, and has a beauty of proportion and gradation of shades which we have never seen surpassed The summit is surmounted with marble foliated in the form of a cross The monument is 35 feet high, and stands near that of the late Governor Hunt. The plot contains 6,600 feet superficial measure, with hand [illegible] grading and walks of pleasant curve At each of the four corners are hewn stone posts bearing the name of Hodge the man whose enterprise and wealth caused the construction of this appropriate family monument The entire cost of the plot of ground and monument borders upon six thousand dollars Mr John Hodge whose name we have mentioned in this article is the same who is so widely known throughout the country as Secretary of the Gargling Oil Company Snyder & Holly, of Lockport, are the builders of the monument."

A Paris paper sent a lady critic to Munich to hear Wagner's Rheingold She gushed exceedingly and wrote of notes which trickle down like drops of milk of the light that trembles over the kettledrums of the mailed brilliancy of the trumpets of giants whose massive tread re-echoes in the double bases, of flames that play around the violins of the gold that glistens in a magnificent tremolo of the cymbals of a dragon whose horrible voice speaks out of the trombones of the mysterious atmosphere of the horns with more to the same purport

The Bark Tidal Wave

[From the San Francisco Bulletin]

It is always pleasant to record triumphs of inventive skill and genius in naval architecture especially where local industries are advanced Ship building [illegible] has been very little [illegible] beyond the construction and a little repairing affording the only employment for workmen The shipyards of Washington Territory with the choicest of building material immediately at hand have increased their business and as a specimen of their handiwork the workmen of the North point to the bark Tidal Wave This vessel built of the finest timber on this coast for Meigs & Gawley of this city was launched at Port Madison Washington Territory a few months since [illegible] along side the wharf—Market street in this city for the first time. She is designed for the lumber trade registered 603 tons [illegible] house measurement, and 887 tons carpenter's measurement and is one of the largest if not the largest single-decked vessel afloat

We will not worry the reader with technical terms but content ourselves with calling attention to the many advantages this bark possesses over many modern vessels The owners of the vessel being proprietors of the saw mill at Port Madison were enabled to be very fastidious in the selection and preparation of timber for the craft, and to this fact perhaps as well as to the skill of the workmen she owes her remarkable neat and substantial appearance The timbers and knees are unusually heavy and below the water line composition and copper fastenings are used Above the water line she is heavily bolted and the view of her sides from the hold presents a very curious appearance, with the multitude of bolt heads The deck planks were turned out of the mill square—four by four—affording a chance to select the close-grained side for the surface of the deck. The cabin is large convenient, and tastefully arranged and, like the other portions of the vessel is provided with modern improvements Her spars are models of symmetry and strength and she presents a shipshape appearance aloft She has double top-sails and double top gallant-sails, and all the standing rigging is made of wire

The agent of the underwriters, who inspected the vessel was surprised at her superior build and stated she was the strongest wooden vessel on the coast Captain Reynolds feels justly proud of his charge, and the large number of visitors who come to see the vessel are courteously treated and allowed to roam over the vessel at their own will.

This is her second trip down from Puget Sound. On the first she took a cargo of lumber to the Navy Yard, Mare Island This time she brought down 789,000 feet to her owners, of which 328,000 feet was on deck To enable her to carry this immense deckload, she had five stanchions 14 inches square placed amidships at about 20 feet apart, which fasten in her kelson On the tops of the side stanchions, under the main rail, there is timber set on 14 by 28 inches, on which the top-sail is fastened What first strikes the eye of the most inexperienced observer is the size of her timber and the quantity and strength of her fastenings She is fitted with the American patent submerged pump She is a fast sailer, running 16 knots with a free wind and is commanded by Capt Edward B Reynolds, one of the most experienced shipmasters on the coast.

Mr Westervelt, son of J A. Westervelt, the well known shipbuilder of New York, is now building at Port Madison, for the same firm, a clipper ship of 1,000 tons When completed she will probably be sent East, and will tend to convince them that the Pacific coast can turn out as fine vessels as any part of the world

Martin Van Buren

[From Harper's Monthly]

It is but a very few years ago that the Easy Chair was sauntering through Fulton market—which ought to be exterminated, but which is none the less a very curious and interesting spot—and it perceived just before it, and equally loitering, two men, one of whom was very venerable, of a stout figure, not tall, with bushy white hair and dressed very neatly in black broadcloth the other, younger, taller, of a careless and even lounging gait, but full of respect in his treatment of his older companion The two passed slowly through the throng, nobody regarding them, and they gazed with evident amusement at the motley spectacle of the market. The Easy Chair recognized them both. The last time it had seen the elder man was many a year before, when he came up Broadway under waving flags, with military escorts, and amidst peals of music and the acclamations of the people who thronged the sidewalks and filled the balconies and windows, and stood upon the roofs, and wherever his form could be seen He stood erect in a barouche, with his hat in his hand, blandly bowing upon every side as the procession slowly advanced It was the eighth President of the United States, Martin Van Buren He passed blandly bowing—a man about 56 years old, who had grasped the prize which he had so long sought He was a private citizen, past 75, when the Easy Chair next saw him quietly loitering unheeded through the busy Fulton market

Mr Van Buren was a politician, and not of the lowest kind. Politics was his business To obtain political distinction was his object The characteristic of the politician is self seeking All public questions, the public welfare itself are subordinated to party interest, and the bearing of these interests upon his personal aggrandizement. This was certainly true of Mr. Van Buren He had a capital outfit for his career He was the son of a poor man, and made his own way He was of an equable temper, and of excellent natural spirits. He was instinctively cautious and shrewd. His manners were bland and winning, and he conciliated good feeling, if not confidence At 30 he was the leader of the party in his county, At 46 he was Governor of his State. At 51 he was Vice-President. At 55 he was President He was personally a kind and agreeable man, but who can help wishing a little to think that of all men in the country, just the man who wrote certain letters, which are preserved by M James A Hamilton in his "Reminiscences," should have been selected for President? It is not that they propose frauds—it is their tone which is humiliating

Some old gentleman, in the western part of the State, who is anxious to know that Gen Jackson's moral character is quite correct, writes to Mr Van Buren, who sends the letter to Mr Hamilton who had been at the Hermitage, and knew the habits of Jackson's household complies but he mentions the name of Mr. Van Buren in the letter As the letter may get into print, and illusion may in some way be prejudicial to that gentleman, so he suggests that it be stricken out, and adds this significant postscript "P S —Does the old gentleman have prayers in his own house? If so mention it modestly This is the true policy It is saying delicately Don t forget the religious gag When the General was elected Mr Hamilton was acting Secretary of State until Mr Van Buren was able properly to resign his office of Governor and reach Washington to take the place and during all the correspondence in regard to offices and appointments Mr Hamilton says that Mr Van Buren never made any suggestion whatever in regard to the fitness of the candidates Fitness is not the qualification on which the politician looks

What a Climate!—A letter from near London Ontario dated October 29th says the season has been very unfavorable to the farmers that the ground was so wet during harvest that the reapers would mire down and later in the season it was too wet to plow and consequently little or no Fall wheat has been put in On the 22d says the writer it turned cold and began to snow and has continued to snow more or less every day since and very cold the mercury falling twelve degrees below freezing point The potatoes are nothing that escaped the rot and they are few and the apples on the trees froze solid And now while I write the snow is coming tumbling down just as easy! Our young folks had a company last night and some of the aforesaid company came in a sleigh So you can form a pretty correct idea of how we are progressing in the great Dominion of Canada

The process of canning eggs in their own shells is something new It was explained at a late meeting of the New York Farmers' Club When two or three dozen eggs are obtained from the nests place them in a dish and pour scalding water over them and immediately turn it off This process is repeated three times, by which means the albumen is fixed or coagulated the pores of the shells closed and the egg as it were in its own covering The eggs thus prepared are then packed in salt with the apex downward and they are said to keep perfectly fresh for many months

Things a Man Can't Do

Jennie June in the [illegible] says there are things a man can't do as follows

Some woman in a sudden burst of generousness has acknowledged that there are some things a man can't do and expresses unbounded admiration for the men who do these things so deftly

Well what if they can do two or three things better than a woman? I for one am not going into ecstacies over them nor will I make a standing exclamation of myself because they can do up a bundle and carry an umbrella

Woman can do a hundred things that they can't but they never think of making a great fuss over it

One thing a man can't do is to own up frankly that he can't do everything better than a woman can Another thing a man can't do is to carry the baby I've tried that and I know You just take the baby I mean—and do it up in the blankets and shawls all snug and nice and give it to Joseph to carry and while you are putting on your sacque and hat just keep your eyes on that baby and you will see an ominous squirming in your bundle and hear certain half smothered—but to you well understood sounds Upon investigation you will find the baby red in the face and its heels where its head ought to be You take it and shake it up a little give it a soft pat here and there and restore it to him right side up

Will he acknowledge it was his fault? Will he confess he don't know how to carry the baby?

Thirdly, as our parson used to say about the time he ought to have said seventeenthly and lastly—he can't hook up a lady's dress at least he could not years ago when ladies dresses hooked up in the back There were always three or four hooks and eyes that I couldn't reach, and times without number I've called upon my John to hook them The good clumsy fellow would fumble away with fingers that were all thumbs while he grew red in the face with his efforts to make the plagued thing hitch, giving it up at last with 'Hang the things! Why don't you have buttons as we do?'

Let me think! What else is there that he can't do? He can't make tatting, or crochet; he can't wear a crinoline, nor manage two yards of trail; he can't wear a 'love of a bonnet, or a balmoral shoe, and last, and best of all, he can't say 'No to an offer of marriage, and that the blessedest privilege we women have

NEW PATENT SHAFT COUPLING!

W. B. COOPER

Has purchased the right for this County of the above Patent and will hereafter use it in the construction of all the Vehicles manufactured at his extensive

Carriage Factory,

Corner of Second and Morrison Streets.

He respectfully refers to the following

CARD.

Having examined the New Patent Shaft Coupling, invented by R. B. Hoagland we feel pleasure in informing the public that in our opinion it is the safest and best method of connecting shafts or tongues to all vehicles that has ever been used

It fastens without bolt or screw, and is therefore easily and speedily separated It rests on Gutta Percha so as to be entirely free from the rattling sound which so often disturbs restless horses It is easily changed so that the shafts or tongue may be detached in an instant, and is convenient, safe and secure

It is easy to change to this style of coupling any buggy or other vehicle now in use and with small expense. We have come to the conclusion to use this new invention ourselves and recommend its use to all cases. We consider it far superior to the Brewster Patent heretofore considered the best in use
